We secured a contract to construct two extensions at Grey College for Durham University. The first extension was to the Junior Common Room on the Hollingside Building and the second was to the Library on Holgate Building. Both extensions ran in tandem with each other and the works were carried out on as live site with students living and working adjacent. The Library project also included the installation of a mobile storage shelving system for the books.

JCR Extension to Hollingside Building

Both extensions were completed on time and a second phase for the replacement of further windows on the Hollingside Building was negotiated a few months later and the works were carried out during the summer break.

Library Extension to Holgate Building

The client and college were very impressed with the management of the site and the completed works. In the two years following completed of this scheme we have carried out a further 4 schemes at the same college totalling around £1.5m.
